The missions of our non-profit organisation

The youth hostel in Esch-sur-Alzette is managed by a non-profit organisation with the name 'Les Auberges de Jeunesse Luxembourgeoises a.s.b.l.' which is a member of the international federation 'Hostelling International', which groups together more than 3.000 youth hostels in 80 countries around the world.

The aims of the association include:

- To develop social, sports, cultural and educational tourism, particularly for young people, families and children.
- To facilitate the meeting of young people from all countries without distinction of origin, nationality, gender, religion or political opinion; exploration and travel allow a better understanding of other cultures, which in turn creates a peaceful, more intelligent and tolerant world.
- Organise sustainable school excursions in youth hostels and encourage extra-curricular activities in connection with youth hostels.
- To establish, maintain and manage youth hostels, accommodation centres in general, training centres and activity and animation centres in Luxembourg.

We work for 'the greater good and not for profit', which means that the stay/activity is cheaper, while contributing to something great - any surplus funds are reinvested for affordable youth hostels and not for shareholders.

In an increasingly interconnected and globalised world, this open encounter between cultures and peaceful co-existence between people of different nationalities is of growing importance. The youth hostel movement therefore remains true to its history and is trying to move along its chosen path between idealism and professionalisation, between economic constraints and its specific statutory mission, in order to continue to offer something that involves more than just a bed and buns.
